About us

If you are serious about your career then you should be engaged in discussions with the consultants at Merston Peters. With more than 50 years professional recruitment experience between them, Shaun and Martin provide highly insightful and straight-forward advice. Our clients expect us to get it right first time every time, an expectation built by results and reputation.

There is a simple explanation to our success; we only work with clients who demonstrate a true commitment to attracting, retaining and developing good people. We learned a long time ago to be selective when taking on a new client. It is common knowledge that talent is in short supply, and will remain so for a considerable time, we cannot expect high-calibre people to join mediocre employers and conversely our clients expect to appoint only top-quartile individuals. Clients pay for our service up front allowing us to focus on achieving the right result. When meeting a potential candidate an advised “no” is as good an outcome as a “yes” to progress.

Our activity is focused on the agricultural supply sector working with both manufacturer and distributor sectors; recruiting at senior, specialist and middle management level. Given the need for confidentiality not all of our assignments are advertised. Headhunting is deployed on all assignments, but it is to your benefit if we already know who you are and what you want to achieve. We ensure total confidentiality to you and no discussions will be progressed with any potential employer without your prior knowledge. We meet all candidates before any discussion with our clients.

Whether you are a client or candidate, our involvement with you will be exhaustive, from the initial contact, face-to-face meetings and ongoing discussions, commonly we are involved from outset through to package negotiation to help both parties arrive at an acceptable outcome. To ensure a successful transition we also work with one of the most experienced employment contract specialists within the agricultural industry.

Key attractions

We are unlike most recruitment companies in the fact that we only work on retained assignments, our knowledge of our clients' businesses and forward strategies is second to none, allowing us to ensure only the right individuals are considered.

If you want to be “in the know” or considered for some of the best appointments within progressive employers then either call or register on our website.

Testimonials

“What really impressed me is that Merston Peters seem to have a great career management approach for their candidates and so they really know how the candidates have developed and match those to our needs as a client.”

DIANE WELSH
Business Services Manager

“What sets Merston Peters apart from others in the agricultural recruitment sector is their diligence in truly understanding the client brief and the merits and qualities in prospective candidates. To Merston Peters, it is not a numbers game and it really shows that they want to go the extra mile in meeting a client's objectives (even helping to frame the strategy and the realistic objectives).”

I can say that I am now happily involved in the sector and this is in no small way down to the coaching and frank appraisal by Martin Thorley. I wanted to write this as in my personal experience the difference in approach compared with some other “household” names in the agricultural recruitment sector is like night and day”.
